HORSE-FLESH

(Press Instruction spaces)

A Freschman was one day Manfy remonstrating against the superfusions score, expensed by Engineering for the best of Frence, which the for his part, old not provided the processing of the property of the part of the par night, and now at least ten thousand of the inhabitants are hippophagists.

These facts are very striking. When we consider, on the one hand, how strong is prejudice, and, on the other, how unreasoning the stomach, we must admit that horse-flesh could only gain acceptance in virtue of its positive excellence. Nor will it suffice to meet these facts with a sarcasm on German beef, in comparison with which horse-flesh may be supposed to hold no dishonor of all the country of the Paris and Phillippe's, invited expressly to pronounce judgment, and proved, on trial, incapable of distinguishing horse-beef from ox-beef. M. Renault, the director of the great veterinary school at Alfort, had a horse brought to the establishment with an incurable the director of the great veterinary school at Alfort, had a horse brought to the establishment with an incurable the director of the great veterinary school at Alfort, had a horse brought to the establishment with an incurable to dine of it: they were physicians, journalists, veterinary surgeons, and employés of the government. Side by side were dishes prepared by the same cook, in precisely similar manner, consisting of similar parts of the meat from with shorse, and from an ox of good quality. The horse-soup was flanked by an ox-soup, the bouilli of horse by a fould of beef, the fillet of roast-beef by a fillet of roast-borse. this horse, and from an ox of good quality. The horse-soup was flanked by an ox-soup, the bouilli of horse by a bouilli of beef, the fillet of roast-beef by a fillet of roast-horse. The guests unanimously pronounced in favor of the horse-soup; the bouilli, on the contrary, they thought inferior to that of the ox, though superior to ordinary beef, decidedly so to cow-beef. The roast fillet, again, seemed to them very decidedly in favor of the horse. Similar experiments have been subsequently repeated in Paris and the provinces, under varying conditions: the guests have sometimes they have been totally unsuspecting; and sometimes they have been totally unsuspecting; and sometimes they have been totally unsuspecting; and sometimes they have been simply told that they were going to cat something quite novel. Yet in every case the result has been the same. It is on this evidence that M. St. Hilaire calls upon the French people to turn their serious attention to the immense mass of excellent animal food which lies within their reach, and which they annually suffer to waste, merely because of an absurd prejudice. Difficult as it may be to overcome a prejudice, no array of ignorance can prevent the establishment of a truth which is at once easily demonstrable and immediately beneficial. Prejudice may reject horse-fiesh, as it long rejected tes and potatoes, the latter of which, Montaigne tells us, excited festomenses of defolit, but has nevertheless become European food. If horses are eaten, why not doukeys? The Greeks ate donkeys, and we must suppose they had their reasons for it. Has any modern stowach been courageous enough to try? A RIY HATS AND TRIMMINGS.

GLEANED FROM THE MAILS.

The American Charm in Pages.—The collections at this chapel have averaged over $100 at every morning service since its dedication. They are to pay for a new building and the support of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Seeley, formerly of Springfield, Mass. The audiences are large, and the Americans in Paris take a rational pride in up-holding the undertaking. On the 30th of May, Mr. Seeley had for a heaver her Majesty the Queen of Holland, and the collections that morning, and the checks subsequently given during the week, amounted to three hundred dollars.

The yachts entered for the great ocean yacht race around Long Island, which started from opposite Hoboken yesterday, were favored with a most beautiful day and a good stiff breeze from the S. S. W. They had an excellent start, and, if the wind with which they started should continue, we have no doubt some of them will appear at the winning point this afternoon or to night. A note from our ship news reporter states that the yachts passed through the Narrows at twenty minutes after twelve o'clock—the Rebecca first, the Una second, and the Madgie third.—Herald, June 25.

There are 1,700 men now employed in the New York yard in every department. The number will probably be increased to 2,000 at the first of the month, as the work on the new storehouse has been resumed.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

CRIMINAL COURT.

FRIDAY. June 25.—The court met at the usual hour.

Fainar, June 25.—The court met at the usual hour. The first case called was the case of the Uffited States et. Asbury Lansdale, sites George W. Lansdale, in which the defendant, a colored man, stool charged with the larceny of silver plate and money to a considerable amount from Hou. Lyman Trienbull.

From the testimouy, it appeared that this man had been employed as a servant in the house of Judge Trumbull, and a few days after he left this silver and money were missing. Information having been given to the officers, this colored man was arrested, and some bills of a similar kind to those stolen were found upon him. None of the silver plate was found.

After argument, the case was given to the jury, who retired to deliberate upon their verdict. After some time, they came into court with a verdict of guilty of petty larceny, in stealing the bank notes, but not guilty time, they came into court with a verdict of guilty of petty larceny, in stealing the bank notes, but not guilty of stealing the silver plate.

The grand jury came into court, and were dismissed until next Monday morning.

The next case called was the case of the United States or. Clinton Smith, in which the defendant, a free negro, stands charged with the larceny of a set of cart harness of the raise of five delies haloning at 27 J. 18 M. of the value of five dollars, belonging to T. J. & W. M. Galt. The jury in this case brought in a verdict of guilty, and the prisoner was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year.

The jurors were then dismissed until Monday next, at

A VISIT TO THE WASHINGTON ARSENAL.—In company with a well-known gentleman, we yesterday inspected the Washington Arsenal. Every resident of the "three cities" is familiar with its location, and there have been but few temporary sojourners, whether for business or pleasure, who have not paid it at least a flying visit. Although the idea is prevalent that it is easy of access, this is far from being the case. It must not be undertically the state of the case and his company of the case. stood from this that the commanding officer and his subordinates are averse to receiving visitors, for if such an inference should be drawn great injustice would be done to them. The only obstacle, then, in the way, at least an inference should be drawn great injustice would be done to them. The only obstacle, then, in the way, at least the greatest obstacle, is the penifentiary, which is placed just in front of the main buildings, evidently with the design of hiding them from persons approaching by Four-and-a-half street. It seems as if, because the City Hall stands at one end of this street, the penitentiary was placed at the other end, so that justice and the punishment of crime might stand face to face. Although this was a very appropriate design, still we do not believe that its execution has been productive of beneficial influences upon the morals of the community; nor do we think it a sufficient reason for hampering a government post. As the building is entirely too small for all the purposes for which it was designed, and as the cost of enlarging and repairing it would be considerable, the best thing that can be done is to build a new penitentiary and abandon the old one to government use.

But to return: If not compelled to pass through the penitentiary to get to the arsnal, you are obliged to go around it, which is a real affliction in these melting days.

Within the square of the workshops, enclosed with a light fence, are large numbers of cannon and cannon balls, which were a source of great wonder to the Indians who recently visited this place. One of these redoubtable chiefs very sensibly remarked that "these cannon were not in his country, and it would cost a big sum to get them there." Opposite the officers' quarters in this square are placed two large wrought iron cannon and several French field pieces that were used at Valley Forge. For some years past recommendations have been made for the improvement of the grounds and the repair of the buildings, but that were used at Valley Forge. For some years past recommendations have been made for the improvement of the grounds and the repair of the buildings, but as yet no sufficient appropriation has been made by Congress. The appropriation made at the last session is entirely too insignificant to admit of more than a few necessary repairs, being only $9,000. Among the contemplated improvements is one for the building of a sea wall. The design is when this is accomplished to make a parriage road fifty feet wide all round the grounds, embracing in extent over a mile and a half. This is destined to be a very beautiful and popular drive. Workmen were busily engaged in repairing the quarters of Major Ramsey, the commandant, who intends to reside at his

were busily engaged in repairing the quarters of Major Ramsey, the commandant, who intends to reside at his post with his family. This building has thick walls and small windows, and in the attack on Washington was used as a fort.

We were received with great kindness by Major Ramsey, the commandant, and Major Lewis, M. S. K., from whom we learned that the workshops had been closed at the request of the workmen, who desired to attend the funeral of Mr. Beeve Lewis, the master armorer, who died on Thursday last from the effects of the wounds inflicted by a party of ruffians last winter. The funeral of Mr. Lewis will take place to-day. His wife died a few weeks ago, her death, no doubt, being hastened by the Major Bell by the appointment of another person to per-form his duty. A subscription has been circulated by the workmen for their benefit, and a sum sufficient to meet their immediate wants raised. Major written to the Department urging that Mr. Lewis's pay up to the time of his death be allowed, which seems to be no more than just under the circumstances of the case. Cannot our churches and philanthropic associations do something for these bereft children?

A HEARTBENDING OCCURRENCE. - The vicinity of Georgeown was thrown into considerable excitement yesterday morning, by the brutal murder of a pretty, interesting young lady named Mary Shehey, by William Nugent, an Irish laborer on the Washington aqueduct. It is reported that Nugent became enamored of the young girl, and because she refused to marry him, took her life in a fit of jealousy whilst under the influence of liquor. His conduct receiving to the constant of the conduct previous to the commission of the deed was certainly very singular. He was frequently heard to mutter incoherent-ly to himself, and behaved himself in so extraordinary a manner, that he was on Tuesday last taken to George town and placed in confinement, from which he was re leased as soon as he evinced signs of returning self-con trol. Shortly after his release he returned to work, and was heard to complain of the severity of the tesks im-posed upon him. On Thursday night he went quietly to bed, but arose between four and five o'clock, and armed with a sharpened case knife, entered the apartment of the deceased and cut her throat. She lived but ten minutes, and when her father reached her side was just able to inform him of the manner of her death. The murderer was immediately secured by those who were attracted to the spot, but before the arrival of the officers, his fellow-laborers commenced beating him in such a manner that he could not have survived for any length of time had he not been rescued. At one moment the mob evinced a disposition to hang him, so intense was the feeling excited against him; and this, in all probability, would have been accomplished but for the timely interposition of the murdered girl's father.

The conduct of the wretched man, after he was taken into custody, was such as to excite the deepest indig-nation and disgust. He appeared to be perfectly uncon-cerned, and ate a pic as if he had not been guilty of the cerned, and ate a pic as it lie had not been guilty of the most inhuman act a man can perpetrate. Indeed, he was heard to exclaim that he had determined to kill some one before he left the house. We hope that a just pun-ishment will be meted out to him, in order to deter others from the commission of like crimes.

The murderer was taken to the office of Mr. Justice White, in this city, who committed him to jail.

PROSPERITY. Many of our eminent public men, (say a Washington correspondent,) as well as private individ-uals, are selecting Washington as their permanent place of residence, and it will not be long before we shall have a society here that cannot be surpassed in the capital of any country. Hon. Reverdy Johnson is now building for his own occupancy a magnificent house on Vermont avenue, near General Cass.

This Wassington Agustion.—The work upon the Washington aquadnot is progressing quite rapidly, and it is anticipated by Captain Melos that the water will be let in by December next. Workmen have already commenced digging at the arcenal, and upwards of one thousand feet of the trench has been completed. The laying of the pipe on this section of the work will be commenced next week. Several of the laborers were compelled to leave their work yesterday morning from faintness produced by the intense heat.

Surrecord LOCKING DOGS.—There are too many un-kennelled and unmuzzled dogs running about the city. Some of them are very suspicious in their behavior; their tongues protrude too much, and there is an over-abundance of saliva dropping from their gaping mouths. The fact is that their panting is both visible and audible, and if they are not mad they present the appearance of becoming so on the slightest provocation. There is a law in reference to dogs, and though it does not entirely most the wishes of many prudent citizens, we are glad to see that the Mayor has given notice that it will be rigidly enforced.

YESTARDAY was a most melting day. We do not be-lieve there was a single standing collar in the city, and though the streets were certainly dry and dusty, every person we met on the avenue seemed to be in a moistened condition. It would be quite comfortable, as Ethan Allen used to say, could one take off his floth and sit in his bones awhile.

REAL Examp.—The following sales were made yester-day by A. Grean, auctioneer: Two-story frame house and lot, square 417, fronting 20 feet on 8th street, 100 feet deep, between 8 and T streets north, was purchased by Charles Brown for $400.

Lot No. 19, on square No. 441, (near the boundary line,) on 7th street, between 8 and T streets north, was purchased at 11½ cents, by John Myers.

yesterday morning contains the following: The "Bank of Rappahannock" is to be established on the State stock principle. The Herald says: "Webb & Co., of Washing-ton have subscribed $250,000, and the Bank is to be es-tablished in a few weeks."

The Police.—We understand that Mayor Berret has de-termined to inspect the police every Monday morning, af-ter the body shall have been organized under the bill now before the Common Council. This will have a ben-eficial influence upon the police, and create a pride in the performance of their duties hitherto unknown.

THE EXECUTION OF POWERS will in all probability take place this morning. A squad of twenty marines were stationed at the jall last night, to guard against accidents.

Excursions.—There will be an excursion to the White House Pavillion on Monday, the 5th of July next. The English Lutheran Sabbath School will give a pic-nic at Fort Washington on the 30th instant.

THE PARADE OF THE MONTGOMERY GUARDS, which was to have taken place on Monday next, has been post-poned by order of Captain Key. THE SIOUX INDIANS, who recently left this city for their homes after having concluded a treaty with the Indian Bureau, are visiting the northern cities. While in Bal-timore they were quartered at the Howard House. THE PROPOSED VOLUNTEER COMPANY. - We understand that the names of ten of the most respectable citizens of Washington have already been appended to the circular for the organization of a new volunteer company.

The funeral of Mr. Lewis will take place to-day. His wife died a few weeks ago, her death, no doubt, being hastened by the murderous assault upon her husband. Thus nine children are left fatherless and motherless, and in destitute circumstances, for the pay of Mr. Lewis was stopped by Major Bell by the appointment of another person to permitted.
